

The Chicago Daily Tribune.

VOLUME XXXIX.

SATURDAY, JULY 19, 1879—SIXTEEN PAGES.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

CLEARING SALE.

MANDEL BROTHERS.

SEMI-ANNUAL CLEARING SALE WILL BE Continued During the Entire Month.

SPECIAL SALE TO-DAY,
Saturday, July 19, 5,000
LAWN SUITS,

The entire production of several of the largest EASTERN manufacturers, at an enormous sacrifice, affording us the pleasure of giving BAR-GAINS seldom offered, at prices ranging from

$1.50
UPWARDS.

Owing to the great rush which these Bargains will cause, we would request our friends and patrons to call as early in the morning as convenient.

121 & 123 State-st.
BRANCH.

Michigan-av. and Twenty-second-st.

MANDELS'. MANDELS'.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

August Atlantic

Now Ready Everywhere, contains Practicing. A thoughtful, original article on "The Slave Problem." Tendencies."

Two Years of Presidential Hayes. A careful Historical Review of the present Administration, by Walter Allen.

A Bit of Shore Life. Sarah O. Jewett, author of "Deephaven."

The Negro Exodus. James R. Eunson.

William Lloyd Garrison. Lydia Maria Child.

Vestris Quinque Retrospect. Poem read at Harvard University on the Fifteenth Anniversary of the Death of Mrs. Henry V. Weston.

Rural England. Richard Grant White.

Poems. Stories, Essays, by H. T. S. Perry, and G. J. Jackson. Henry Van Brunt, Joseph

Kirkman, and others.

TERMS—$1.00 a year; 35 cts. a number.

HOUGHTON, OSGOOD & CO., Boston.

ARCHERY.

FINE ARCHERY.

The finest stock in the West. Especially recommended by Maurice
H. Williams, President of the National Archery Association, and best apparatus for Hammocks, Camp Stools, Scroll
Saws, etc.

JOHN WILKINSON,
Importer and Dealer,
77 State-st.

OPTICIANS.

MANASSE SIGHT OPTICIAN

18 YEARS

TRIBUNE BUILDING

Specimens showing all kinds of scientific principles. Opera and Field Glasses, Telescopes, Microscopes, Barometers, etc.

EXCURSIONS.

THE SIDE-WHEEL STEER "RUBY."

Will have Clark's Bridge every day at 9:00 a.m.
for round trip Fish and Picnic Grounds.

For Water Works Cris, South Park, Hyde Park, and Lincoln Park, and all other excursions.

Grand Marshall Excursion every evening at 6 o'clock. Fare only 50 cents.

EDWARD H. MANNER.

RONN CAN NOT BE FOUND.

With his inventive genius research, can find a fat person to suit his taste.

He has not been seen for a week.

agent named Van Hasse was arrested for shooting a placard threatening the life of the King. In consequence of the confession made by Van Hasse the police made a descent on a dozen houses.

LORILLARD'S STABLE.
URGENT LINE—PAROLE HUNTERED FOR THE CAN-NEDDICKS STAKES.

London, July 15.—Mr. T. Lorillard's boy colt "Duce" has gone hopelessly lame, his other hock being the seat of trouble. His master had been stopped for the season. Unrest accounted for the Goodwood stakes, to be run July 20th, but all things gone well without it he would have come to the post carrying 200 pounds.

Mr. Lorillard's Parole has been won for the Cambridge Stakes to be run 21st. $20,000—$20,000—at the odds of 5 to 1 against him. The race will take place during the Newmarket-Houghton meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 21, and the distance is one mile and 20 yards.

SPAIN.
FORTHCOMING DECREE.

MADRID, July 15.—A decree will be published shortly annulling the decree of 1867 relative to entries from the United States conveyed in Spanish vessels.

SOUTH AMERICA.
BRAZIL.

VALLARABE, June 24.—The Chilean fleet is still blocking Iquique.

FIRE.

AT DAVENPORT, IA.
Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

DAVENPORT, Ia., July 15.—The works of the Davenport Glass Manufacturing Company were destroyed by fire last evening. The total loss was $80,110, and the total insurance $51,400, placed in the following companies: German-American, $6,000; Lancashire, $2,500; Manufacturers' of Boston, $3,000; Columbus, $1,700; Royal-23,750; Amazon, $4,000; North British, $2,250; Paul, $800; People's, $1,000; Trenton, $1,000; Imperial, $1,000; London, $2,000; North British, $1,000; Paul, $1,000; Queen, $3,500; Fire Assocs., $1,000; American, $2,000; British American, $1,000; Manhattan, $1,500; Pennsylvania, $1,500.

The offices belonged to a stock-company, of which the following were the officers: President, H. H. Anderson; Vice-President, Otto Albrecht; Secretary, Robert Krause; Treasurer, E. H. Trippenbach; Clerk, A. Mueller; Gen. Sales and G. T. Black. It is probable that the factory will be at once rebuilt.

CHICAGO.
A still alarm at 4:30 yesterday afternoon at Chicago Company No. 150 was caused by a fire in a barn owned by Mrs. Murray, of No. 152 Lincoln. A still alarm at Engle Company No. 13, at 7 o'clock last evening, was caused by smoke in the basement of No. 153 Washington street, occupied as a steam-fitting establishment by S. J. Pope & Co. No damage.

The alarm from Box 152 at 8 o'clock yesterday morning was caused by a fire in an empty freight car of the Michigan Southern Railroad, track West Twenty-ninth street. Damage nominal.

AT BURLINGTON, IA.
Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

BURLINGTON, Ia., July 15.—For this evening destroyed the residence of Nicholas Warner, a well-known citizen of this city, together with a portion of the furniture and the clothing of the family. The building cost upward of $20,000. There is an insurance of $600 on the furniture. The amount of insurance on the building is not known.

AT MACON, GA.

MACON, Ga., July 15.—A fire this morning destroyed three prominent business houses: The shoe-store of Henry S. Hall; loss, $5,000; Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, wholesale druggists; loss, $45,000; insurance, $30,000. C. H. Rogers & Co., wholesale grocers; loss, $40,000; insurance, $30,000.

AT BEARBRIGHT, N. Y.

LOW BRIDGE, N. J., July 15.—A fire this morning caused a loss of $30,000; partially insured.

GEN. TOM EWING.

How We See the War in Potts County, Missouri.
Editor (Mr. Ewing).

A reporter of the Eagle visited the venerable T. J. Johnson, of this city, on Saturday last, and gathered the following information in regard to Gen. Tom Ewing's mode of life while in command of a regiment of Federal soldiers in Potts County during the late "campaign." Gen. Ewing, it is very well known, was the author of the famous "General Order No. 11," and is now the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. Learning that Mr. Johnson was well acquainted with Gen. Ewing, the reporter sought him out, and the following sally ensued:

"Reporters—Mr. Johnson, when did you live during the late War?"

"Johnson—I lived about five miles west of Sedalia, in Pettis County."

"—Were you acquainted with Gen. Ewing during '61?"

"—What! Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements. His wife begged him to stay with her, so Maj. Gen. Gentry's farm and began their depredations. I came up to his men when they were skinning six bears that night, and told them that they had just butchered a horse which they had just butchered. I asked them what this meant. One of the officers replied that they were gutting a dead bear. I said, 'I wonder if you know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country.'"

"—Explain yourself, Mr. Johnson."

"Johnson—I well know my old friend, Maj. Gen. Gentry, and this scoundrel Ewing with his regiment from Kansas City to Sedalia to intercept Gen. Joe Shultz, who was scouring the country in this vicinity. He came down, and instead of going after Shultz, his regiment was robbing the best Union men in the country."

"—Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing?"

"Yes.—Gen. Tom Ewing, the author of the celebrated 'Order No. 11,' and now Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. He's the man."

"—Accustomed with him? I should say I was!

"—He was one of the meanest men I ever saw. He was constantly drunk, and when he was not drunk he was always robbing his men, his horses, his wagons, and everything they could lay their hands on with impunity. He was a scoundrel, a scoundrel of scoundrels. Maj. Gen. Gentry encountered Shultz at Cole Camp and had a fight. Being overpowered he fled to Ewing for reinforcements.

CANADA.

The Documents in the Corporated Letellier Case.

convined that the Thing against the Government.

vention of Letellier and on of a New Ministry.

LETELLIER.
Dissociate to The Tribune.

July 18.—The official doc-ments at the meeting of the corporation were discussed at the meeting of the afternoon. A Cabinet interviewed last evening, and the made that nothing would be public in reference to the meeting was made through the cabinet. It that the Governor-General had anticipated that the result will be. Had the mission of to England on behalf of the successful, the fact would have been. That such was not very evident. The presence of in town strengthens the idea of important changes in the country's affairs are at hand, it will be called upon to form in which case a coalition Governed, at least, that is the the thing is certain, and that is not serve under Tilley, nor Tilley.
It is believed that Sir John an active political life, and go to be a work in as a member of there, all of which many people would be preferable to the present

dispatch to The Tribune.

July 18.—The Chronicle gives the and a not unlikely one, of the Imperial dispatches to the matter, which is entirely in the vernor-General has been referred settlement, since they can-
in. In referring the matter Governor-General, her Majesty's to regard that any inter-the Dominion Government made with the vested rights of Quebec.

VARIOUS.
dispatch to The Tribune.

July 18.—In accordance with the made the local Government of the north shore since, the Government has given Dr. Pidgeon, of Perce, to prosecute, and to take the necessary measures for the prevention and disease.

dispatch to The Tribune.

July 18.—Hastilis goes to Niagara to receive an address and a his son, Mr. George Gray, of the Toronto, Gray & Bruce were made with a view of ascertaining the cause.

Dissociate to The Tribune.

July 18.—A man confined in jail
information that he is one
was amongst whom an uncle in let $500,000. Steps have been American Consul to secure the
of his son.

Mr. Mondelet has brought an David Tuff, of her Majesty's Curator. There is a lady in the case.
His son, a member of New
from his congregation, has gone formed Episcopal Church of the
the Geological Survey.

Trembling Lake, port of Ette Province, says: "The ground
Lake does not certainly stabilize at intervals, and we have to ascertain the cause." I due to underground currents
some reservoir lakes in the mountains to the discharge of the lake in at the outlet. In camping here
one is perceivable when lying with ground perfectly, but this is the time when the water is moving in the direction of the fall. The reservoir stands 1,713 feet above
the sea, and about 2,713 feet above
the level of the ocean.

dispatch to The Tribune.

July 18.—A man confined in jail
information that he is one
was amongst whom an uncle in let $500,000. Steps have been American Consul to secure the
of his son.

Mr. Mondelet has brought an
David Tuff, of her Majesty's Curator. There is a lady in the case.
His son, a member of New
from his congregation, has gone
formed Episcopal Church of the
the Geological Survey.

Trembling Lake, port of Ette Province, says: "The ground
Lake does not certainly stabilize at intervals, and we have to ascertain the cause." I
due to underground currents
some reservoir lakes in the mountains to the discharge of the lake in
at the outlet. In camping here
one is perceivable when lying with
ground perfectly, but this is
the time when the water is moving
in the direction of the fall. The
reservoir stands 1,713 feet above
the sea, and about 2,713 feet above
the level of the ocean.

dispatch to The Tribune.

July 18.—The Tribune publishes a re-announcing the Grand Trunk with whom he had an understand-agreement for the sale of the Branch with cheerful alacrity.
announced the intention of the
to use the sum of $1,000,000 for the construction of a winter's and, securing a connection whereby an end will be put to the and a Canadian compa-
y. He is not desirous that the Canadian will be a loss to freight Amer-but it is much to be wished that the freight on the railroads up by the offer of a new con-the time when the Canadian will have been constructed and, giving the great the Northwestern States, and establish competing lines from referred with approval.

BITUARY.

WILLIAM F. BARRY.
July 15.—Gen. William F. died at Fort McHenry, in the of the Second United States this morning at that post after of bilious dysentery. Gen. Barry the 18th inst. with dysentery, severely aggravated by bilious
He was not considered Wednesday, when delirium of the wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREW'S CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to
conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to
conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of
Bohemian by the Queen of
McNutt, who is in Department at
his remains will be quietly forwarded to the home of his wife,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife, youngest daughter,
which occurred at 11:30 a.m., in
of his wife.

ANDREWS & CO.

The situation at the factories of A. H. An-
draws & Co. yesterday remained practically unchanged. A full dozen men, perhaps, who were originally among the malcontents, have returned to their places, and have abandoned the strikers. The names of such have been obtained
by their individual friends, and have been revealed to the public by the Tribune.

Andrews & Co. who condescended to the
the demands of the strikers, have been endeavoring to
conclude their men and induce them to return
work before the present breach becomes so wide that they cannot retrace their steps. They informed the men that it would be better for
them and for themselves if an accommodation
and settlement upon just and reasonable terms
was made. The strike on the railroad, the following communication was presented to the firm
by a Committee of the strikers appointed for
that purpose:

Chicago, July 17, 1879.—To the Firm of A. H. An-draws & Co.: We desire to inform you that the cast for the Princess Alice, commissioned by the Queen of Bohemian by the Queen of Bohem

THE POLICE.

Dixon's Dismissal Followed by Lansing's.

Rumors About Corruption in the Department.

And Money Levied on Gamblers, Bunko Men, Etc.

Denials by Dixon and Lansing—The Latter and the Mayor.

What the Gamblers Have to Say on the Subject.

The Persons Who Furnished the Mayor the Alleged Information.

The Race Between Weeks and Kern for the Superintendency.

Excellent Advice by the Mayor Regarding Flannel Bandages.

NEW ASSIGNMENTS.

At the City-Hall yesterday everything was indicated to have been arranged. There was an unusual amount of bustle in the hall, where, from the humble peasant vender to the head of a department, and especially was this the case in police circles, where the effects of the head-chopping of the day before had not yet died away. Capt. O'Donnell was at his post, and so were the smaller fry; but a cloud of uncertainty hovered over them and little signs of demoralization were seen on all sides. In fact, the situation was doleful in the extreme. It was not, however, that Joe Dixon had gone, but that all fell liable to follow in his wake at a moment's notice.

Business began in the morning with the issuance of the following order, which explains itself:

Police Department, City of Chicago, Office of General Superintendent—Chicago, July 19, 1879.—To JUDGE G. LANE NO. 12—Lieut. Fred Wiersfeld, of the Harrison Street Station, is directed to be promoted, and will be made Captain of the First Platoon, Harrison Street Station, and will be given command of the same. 3. Patrolman Daniel Hogan will act as Station Keeper at Harrison Street Station, vice Mac Kipp, promoted. Acting Superintendent of Police.

LANSING BOUNCED.

As soon as the above had been dispatched, Capt. O'Donnell sought an interview with his Honor, which he assured the removal was imminent. The door was open to him, and the signs of the day were there. He went, but his going was anything else than pleasant to behold, for a moment before he had been as secure in his place as were those who were watching the doings through which he had just entered into the wider dispensing of him. The following is the order dismissing him:

Police Department, City of Chicago, Office of General Superintendent—Chicago, July 19, 1879.—To Judge G. Lane No. 12—Central and Justice Boyden. The thing was cooked, I believe, from the commencement to get me out the day Harrison was elected.

You can't imagine how those were collecting information!

No, I heard it of late,—that parties were making inquiries about things. I told them go on and look, I didn't know anything about it.

Do you think anybody has been drawing money from the gamblers, condoning to prevent raids, etc.?

No, I never believe there has been. That is, I don't believe there has been any system of collection.

They were trying to get me out the day Harrison was elected.

You can't imagine how those were collecting information!

No, I heard it of late,—that parties were making inquiries about things. I told them go on and look, I didn't know anything about it.

Did you ask the Mayor why you were removed?

No, I received my letter, left night (Tuesday), and didn't expect I would get any information at all. I had been led to believe that if I performed my duty I would not be interfered with. I have tried to do it, and the Assistant I had to get down at 8 in the morning and stay until 6. I was there every hour, and sometimes was hardly able to sit in the chair. Six weeks back Saturday was away.

You can't imagine how those were collecting information!

No, I heard it of late,—that parties were making inquiries about things. I told them go on and look, I didn't know anything about it.

Well, say to them that whenever I have any trouble about my stomach I at once apply the oil of camphor.

"To the children or the mothers!"

To the children, of course," said his Honor, smiling blandly.

You can't imagine how the children that say so then, or would it please you better to put it on an intimate friend?"

You simply recommended the flannel bandage, that's all.

"They are good, you say, for stomach trouble."

"There is nothing better. I always use them."

At this juncture ex-Detective Lansing came along, looking very ill, and Dixon, said: "I want to see you before you go."

"That is untrue."

"And that you gave receipts for the money?"

"Me give receipts! No such—thing."

"Suppose they have the receipts?"

"If they have receipts in my handwriting, I'll give $1,000 to your name."

"What do you want to talk about?"

"No, not particularly."

"No, no reason given?"

"The Mayor called me in the other day, and wanted to know—"

Lansing didn't finish the sentence, but said:

"What did you say at the interview?"

"He asked me if I had received any money from gamblers, and he said that he knew I had."

"What did you say to that?"

"I said if he knew it, that settled it; there was no use of me saying anything one way or the other."

"What was the reason why he discharged you?"

"I don't know. I never asked."

"You deny having received any money from gamblers?"

"I do."

"Can't be proved that you did?"

"Not unless they get men who will swear to it."

"I don't know what their men will swear to."

"What were your instructions in regard to gambling-houses?"

"My orders were to visit them as many times as I could have time, twenty-four hours, and as long as they were straight, and boys were kept out, and people were not steerin' in, not to interfere with them, nor to be molested."

"Did you ever give Dixon money received from gamblers?"

"No."

"There are arrangements between you and him by which you were to collect no much from them?"

"No."

"You never gave receipts to gamblers for money?"

"I know nothing about receipts. I never gave them."

THE REASONS WHY.

There were, of course, many reasons as to the reason why Assistant-Superintendent Dixon and Detective Lansing had been so suddenly removed, for there was really no difference in Dixon's case between a removal and the acceptance of the resignation which he tendered pro forma a couple of months ago. The general belief in Republican circles and among Dixon's friends was that he had been turned out because he was not considered enough of a partisan, because he was not a strong enough aristocrat, that he could not be relied on to carry out the various plans of the party.

Another story was that some personal enemies of Dixon's—and a man cannot well be on the police force for twenty years without having them—had succeeded in poisoning the mind of the Mayor against him, or to bring him to bear influence so strong that he would be removed.

But the true story, which was in the mouths of many was that the Mayor had been informed, the statements being backed up by testimony, that he believed, that Dixon had been guilty of some secret confidence-map, houses of ill-fame, bungo-steers, and other disreputable characters for money; that the amount paid in some cases had been $200 a month, which Lansing had collected for Dixon; that the aggregate had not been footed up, so that it was not known what it was, but it was not far off.

Another person, of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman, though by nature very frank, but who, in his opinion, the reporters of his newspaper organ, the Independent, had been led to believe that he was but a man of course, to state which of these rumors, if any, was true, was the Mayor, not that gentleman,

THE CITY.

GENERAL NEWS.

F. F. Marshall, Erie, Pa., is registered at the Pacific.

James Hardin, of Jefferson City, is at the Gardner.

N. S. Harwood, of Lincoln, Neb., is at the Gardner.

A. C. Barstow, Providence, R. I., is at the Sherman.

C. J. Booth, Dubuque, is one of the guests of the Pacific.

William M. Taylor, New York, is a guest of the Sherman.

George B. Wright, Indianapolis, is staying at the Providence.

The Providence Base-Ball Club are domiciled at the Tremont.

William F. Clark, Brookville, Pa., is registered at the Sherman.

C. D. Willard, Washington, is among the guests of the Palmer.

Joseph Jorgenson, member of Congress from Virginia, is at the Pacific.

W. Y. Bennett, of the San Francisco Times, is sojourning at the Tremont.

J. D. Brown, General Passenger Agent of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, is at the Palmer.

Mr. J. W. Oakley has offered to be one of five to give $100 each for five public concerts at the South Park.

Dr. J. L. White and a party of fifteen, from Lake Superior en route for home.—Bloomington, —at the Gardner.

The Saloon-Keeper's Association met at Aurora Hall yesterday afternoon, as there was not a quorum present, no business was transacted.

The Special Agents of the Post-Office have received from Washington a set of standard weights, by which they are instructed to test the scales in all offices they may visit.

D. W. Hitchcock, General Western Passenger Agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and A. G. T. Nutter, General Traffic Manager of the Erie & Milwaukee Railroad, are at the Tremont.

About a score of the alumni of the Illinois Industrial University at Champaign held a reunion at the Grand Pacific Hotel last evening, and enjoyed themselves several hours in an informal gathering.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, 88 Madison street (TRINITY Building), was at 8 a. m., 73 degrees; at 10 a. m., 73; 24; 3 p. m., 71; 8 p. m., 68. Barometer at 8 a. m., 29.64; at 8 p. m., 29.51.

Twenty-fourty members of thirteen of the Farmers' Club last evening at the Palmer and Palmer House to a very pleasant banquet and enjoyed the good things of the table after their arduous training in preparation for the re-union.

The members of Rosehill Cemetery have engraved and printed on Bristol board an excellent representation of the firemen's monument in that cemetery, and will give a copy free to any fireman who wants it.—A kindly act which will doubtless be appreciated by the men, who will be glad to get them to frame and hang up.

Mrs. Dewey, who charged W. W. O'Brien with being the father of twins born by her, has written a letter in which she gives him full credit for the birth, and to give him credit for the man who pronounced her to put up the job on him. She asks in return that he recommends that she be discharged from the Bridge.

Fifteen of the alumnus of the Illinois State University residing in the city met last evening at the Grand Pacific to perfect plans for a permanent organization. It is believed that over forty will assemble at the next meeting. S. A. Nichols, of the Tremont, and A. A. Grogan, Secretary. It is requested that all alumnus not hitherto notified will send address to the Secretary.

Judge H. H. Cody, who has occupied the position of Circuit Judge of the Ninth Judicial Circuit since May, has joined the law office of H. & N. E. Gary. Mr. Cody brings a ripe experience as a practitioner and Judge to the firm, and will be a valuable acquisition to it. The firm, under the style of Gary, Cody & Gary, will have offices at Chicago, and also at Wheaton and Naperville.

John Widstrand, aged 4 years and 6 months, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Widstrand, was lost in the waters of the Vincennes on the Noia Scotia coast. He and his father and mother were in the boat when it was swamped on the second trip to the shore. The father, a fisherman, and the little boy was one of them. Mr. Widstrand is a salesman for W. W. Kimball, and with his wife and son, were on their way to Sweden to visit relatives.

Ex-Master Bell was taken yesterday evening to the statement made about his services being required and requested in St. Louis and Baltimore. Mr. Benner said: "I have heard of those statements, and would like to state that I am here, nor do I expect any trouble of any kind, nor do I expect any trouble of any kind." I like Chicago; I have been here since 1861, and consider it my home, and think I have been too long now to leave it. You can see I have a right to be here, and being imposed upon by his Honor in any such way.

street crossing, and was trod upon by the horses. She escaped with a few injuries about the right foot.

Thomas Plant, 12 years of age, had his right foot badly crushed at the corner of Maxwell street and Dearborn avenue at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, by a team of horses which were drawn by R. H. Fisk, No. 530 West Madison street. The boy was taken to his home, No. 108 Maxwell street.

A horse belonging to Edward Langford, living at the corner of Western avenue and Fulton street, at 1100, was run over by a team of horses at 10 a. m. on Madison street, and was hit right front foot caught in the track and the body badly torn. The horse was shot by Officer Hugh Burro at the request of the owner.

Patrick Fitzgerald, 12 years of age, whose mother is Mrs. John W. Kunkle, 1100 Madison street, in running off an oncoming coal-train on the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad at 12:10 yesterday afternoon, fell under the wheels of the train, and was thrown on the next track, which was being built up by Engine No. 31 on the Chicago & Great Eastern Railroad. Emerson Ruby, engineer. Six cars passed over the top, completely severing the head and right arm. The remains were picked up and taken home.

THE CITY-HALL.

Permit was granted yesterday to La Sale street, between Monroe and Adams.

The Collector gathered in about $6,000 for licensees yesterday. The saloon-keepers are doing well.

Preparations are making to hand the police their June scrip early the coming week; probably Tuesday.

The City Treasurer received $6,891 from the City Collector, $920 from the Comptroller, and $1,600 from the Water Department.

The ex-City Collector, H. H. Head, leaves for Florida to visit with his family. He has purchased a house in Clear County, and will hereafter devote himself to cultivating that delicious fruit.

Martin H. Boyce was among the callers upon the Mayor yesterday. The interview was of the pleasantest kind. He urged upon the Mayor the propriety of abdicating his office, and will hereafter devote himself to cultivating that delicious fruit.

Leo Mioski, of Mansfield, O., yesterday asked the police to look for his wife. They started forth together a few days ago from Ohio to come to Chicago to visit with his son, Bert. Leo Mioski either ran away or was lost, leaving his husband to care for an infant of 9 months. He is stopping at No. 607 Elston avenue.

The pictures stolen along with the silverware from Christian Holtz, occupying the Schutter's home, were recovered by the police.

They are pretty studies of Tyrolean life. They are the property of Capt. A. Delaney, of the 10th Cavalry, and are valued by him at $100. They were recovered by the police.

The pictures were taken at the home of Capt. A. Delaney, of the 10th Cavalry, and were fastened at the other end to a stationary pulley further in shore, a man climbed the mast, dropped down into the basket, (which was suspended by a cord,) and then picked up the ropes and secured them to the pulley. The top of the mast was attached to the bow of the boat, and the cable passed over the pulley. The life-boat, attached to one end, was then hoisted up on deck by means of the pulley and tackle referred to. In actual practice, the shipwrecked mariners cut at sea would jump into this end of the boat, and then be pulled and secured from a watery grave. But there weren't any shipwrecked people on this occasion, and the fun of the thing, according to the captain, was to have the men stand on the deck of the boat, and then have them jump into the water, and then be pulled and secured from a watery grave.

The name of Gen. I. N. Stiles and William Curran were next taken up and approved.

The last name was that of Capt. A. Delaney.

against whom the letters had been written, which stained his moral character. One of these letters was signed "Ida Friedling," an individual whom no one had ever heard of before, or could find, and another was without any signature. Against these attacks, however, were numerous certificates of good character for the accused, one of which was from the church of which he is Trustee, and was signed by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Stander, who gave him the best possible recommendation, assuring the Committee that while other members of his flock had been "discredited" and disgraced, he had remained "a true Christian." The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.

The two exhibitions were perfect successes and the party expressed to Capt. St. Peters and his crew the wonder and delight caused by this illustration of their profession.</p

AKING POWDER

Made from Grade Cream or Tartar, Water, Soda, Salt, Baking Powder, Wine, etc. All uniform and white. One pound can make a large quantity of bread, biscuits, cakes, &c., New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, & elsewhere. Dangerous when opened loose or

AUCTION SALES.

BITTERS & CO.,
Sotolines, 173 Randolph-st.

REGULAR SATURDAY SALE AT AUCTION.

Old Goods, Carpets, Stoves,

General Merchandise,

July 12, at 173 Randolph-st.

KRUPP'S SALE.

Cigars and Tobacco,

Delivery Wagon,

FRONTING PARK BOULEVARD,

RENT-A-V.

CALUMET-AV.

THIRTY-EIGHTH-ST.

Second and Thirty-eighth-st.,

on Monday, July 21, 1879,

at 173 Randolph-st.

of ready.

M. A. BUTTERS & CO. Auctioneers.

SEPHIEM, BARKER &

Medal Auctioneers.

84 & 86 Randolph-st.

ESTATE SALE

sirable Residence Property,

FRONTING

PARK BOULEVARD,

RENT-A-V.

CALUMET-AV.

THIRTY-EIGHTH-ST.

Second and Thirty-eighth-st.,

on Monday, July 21, 1879,

at 173 Randolph-st.

of ready.

R.D.'S SALE,

THIS MORNING,

POPULAR AUCTION HOUSE,

86 Randolph-st.

NEW AND SECOND-HAND

FURNITURE,

and General Household Goods, resorts well-furnished RESIDENCE

Chimney, Oil Painting, &c.

ALL GOODS TO BE CLOSED OUT,

PLERSHEIM, BAKER & CO.

M. SANDERS & CO.,

130 and 132 Wabash-st.

S, SANDALS, TIES,

HAND-SEWN

ES, BOOTS, &c.,

AT AUCTION,

MORNING, July 22, at 9 o'clock, close out our Summer Stock.

JAS. P. McNAMARA, Auctioneer.

D. P. GORE & CO.,

80 and 82 Wabash-st.

Regular Auction Sale

OF

Shoes & Slippers

Wednesday, July 23,

out 300 lots of very desirable and escelerate. F. GORE & CO.,

80 and 82 Wabash-st.

LOAN OFFICE

Money to loan on Diamonds

Watches and Jewelry.

IPMANS

Old Gold and Silver bought,

Watches repaired, & Diamonds reset.

CADET SCHOOL

Dress and Discipline for Boys and Young

15 years of age. Drill hours from 2 to 4 p.m. to commence Sept. 15, 1879.

SHERIDAN, U. S. A. F.

T. J. TORRENCE, F.

THOMPSON, G. P. T. N. G.

other prominent officers and citizens of the city.

ROBERT HOBINS,

Late Captain U. S. A. Principal

officer, 1st Inf. Regt.

EDWARD GOOD,

MAISIE GOOD,

CELEBRATED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

PERFECT FITTING

Our specialty skilled hair and

skin care.

OUR LOVE PRICES!

No. 202 Wabash-st.

THE HOME.

Marriage and Divorce Laws. the Subject of Discussion.

A General Feeling that Divorced Persons Should Not Re-marry.

Simon P. Chadwick Meets a Horrible Death at Female Hands.

His Dying Agonies Graphically Described by "The Mortuary Dispatch."

California's Recollections of a Home That Was Happy and Peaceful.

Western Ways Described by an Old Correspondent—Miscellaneous Matters.

ALONE.

BY GENEVA.

I.

Under the stars.
In the quiet air.
Where the red eye of Mars
Dots down on us stars—

Under the trees,
To the branches above,
A soft summer breeze
Was piping its love.

Down by the brook,
Where the bluebells nod,
The loveliest nook
On the earth's green sod—

Hear! Day! and I—Met long ago,
And she was so shy,
With voice sweet and low.

The story old—
We whispered soft—
With love grown bold—
I kissed her out.

Ah! past the day,
Ah! past the hours—
She faded away
With the summer-flowers.

Pure Daise sweet,
Too fair and true;
I'll never meet
A but like you.

Though blossoms lead
Their gray grace,
Their perfume send O'er Nature's face—

Though oft I roam
At twilight hour,
Am pick a daisy in the gloom,
"Tis n'er so sweet as my lost flower.

Alone to-night;
I come to gaze
On the silvery light
Of the bright starry rays,

Alone to-night,
Alone for aye—
Alone through the light
And sunshines of day.

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS.

Mrs. H. J. H., Chicago.—Write to Katie, Secretary of THE TRIBUNE Home Club, care of this office.

Editor.—What is the greater suffering, even in the lowest depths of hidden, than an unhappy home, and as home is woman's shrine, its happiness or unhappiness concerns her most. A man can and does slip out of its care and unkindness very easily, but a woman must endure them all. I believe the cause of so much unhappiness is marrying young, and having too exalted an opinion of the world and mankind. There is too much blind worship, and idealizing; too little common sense, study of human nature about this business. A girl makes all rise by her father, and a father's affection for a daughter is far above, and entirely different from that of a husband for a wife. A father is a despotically sacrificing a husband's jealousy of his wife. The wife might be a good mother and wife, only women are not so generally afflicted with the green-eyed monster. The greatest grief of a woman, when she awakes to the fact, as most women do, that after all her husband is not "all her fancy painted him," and that man is a common, too often an exceedingly common, animal indeed, and to tell the truth it is not so much his fault, but the result of too much foolishness.

Between 15 and 22 is a very romantic age to both sexes. At this period love is much like a boy's, and is too easily led astray. Some have it, some don't, and after the twenty-second or twenty-third year the scales begin to fall from our eyes; the world begins to look as it really does, and earnestness, and both sexes more and more, begin to value those qualities which tend to make life happiest. I believe that real, true love never comes until after that age, so that one who carries a girl off at 15, or 16, or 17, or 18, or 19, or 20, is almost sure to be unfortunate; it is much better to wait until she is 21, 22, or 23, or 24, or 25, or 26, or 27, or 28, or 29, or 30, or 31, or 32, or 33, or 34, or 35, or 36, or 37, or 38, or 39, or 40, or 41, or 42, or 43, or 44, or 45, or 46, or 47, or 48, or 49, or 50, or 51, or 52, or 53, or 54, or 55, or 56, or 57, or 58, or 59, or 60, or 61, or 62, or 63, or 64, or 65, or 66, or 67, or 68, or 69, or 70, or 71, or 72, or 73, or 74, or 75, or 76, or 77, or 78, or 79, or 80, or 81, or 82, or 83, or 84, or 85, or 86, or 87, or 88, or 89, or 90, or 91, or 92, or 93, or 94, or 95, or 96, or 97, or 98, or 99, or 100, or 101, or 102, or 103, or 104, or 105, or 106, or 107, or 108, or 109, or 110, or 111, or 112, or 113, or 114, or 115, or 116, or 117, or 118, or 119, or 120, or 121, or 122, or 123, or 124, or 125, or 126, or 127, or 128, or 129, or 130, or 131, or 132, or 133, or 134, or 135, or 136, or 137, or 138, or 139, or 140, or 141, or 142, or 143, or 144, or 145, or 146, or 147, or 148, or 149, or 150, or 151, or 152, or 153, or 154, or 155, or 156, or 157, or 158, or 159, or 160, or 161, or 162, or 163, or 164, or 165, or 166, or 167, or 168, or 169, or 170, or 171, or 172, or 173, or 174, or 175, or 176, or 177, or 178, or 179, or 180, or 181, or 182, or 183, or 184, or 185, or 186, or 187, or 188, or 189, or 190, or 191, or 192, or 193, or 194, or 195, or 196, or 197, or 198, or 199, or 200, or 201, or 202, or 203, or 204, or 205, or 206, or 207, or 208, or 209, or 210, or 211, or 212, or 213, or 214, or 215, or 216, or 217, or 218, or 219, or 220, or 221, or 222, or 223, or 224, or 225, or 226, or 227, or 228, or 229, or 230, or 231, or 232, or 233, or 234, or 235, or 236, or 237, or 238, or 239, or 240, or 241, or 242, or 243, or 244, or 245, or 246, or 247, or 248, or 249, or 250, or 251, or 252, or 253, or 254, or 255, or 256, or 257, or 258, or 259, or 260, or 261, or 262, or 263, or 264, or 265, or 266, or 267, or 268, or 269, or 270, or 271, or 272, or 273, or 274, or 275, or 276, or 277, or 278, or 279, or 280, or 281, or 282, or 283, or 284, or 285, or 286, or 287, or 288, or 289, or 290, or 291, or 292, or 293, or 294, or 295, or 296, or 297, or 298, or 299, or 300, or 301, or 302, or 303, or 304, or 305, or 306, or 307, or 308, or 309, or 310, or 311, or 312, or 313, or 314, or 315, or 316, or 317, or 318, or 319, or 320, or 321, or 322, or 323, or 324, or 325, or 326, or 327, or 328, or 329, or 330, or 331, or 332, or 333, or 334, or 335, or 336, or 337, or 338, or 339, or 340, or 341, or 342, or 343, or 344, or 345, or 346, or 347, or 348, or 349, or 350, or 351, or 352, or 353, or 354, or 355, or 356, or 357, or 358, or 359, or 360, or 361, or 362, or 363, or 364, or 365, or 366, or 367, or 368, or 369, or 370, or 371, or 372, or 373, or 374, or 375, or 376, or 377, or 378, or 379, or 380, or 381, or 382, or 383, or 384, or 385, or 386, or 387, or 388, or 389, or 390, or 391, or 392, or 393, or 394, or 395, or 396, or 397, or 398, or 399, or 400, or 401, or 402, or 403, or 404, or 405, or 406, or 407, or 408, or 409, or 410, or 411, or 412, or 413, or 414, or 415, or 416, or 417, or 418, or 419, or 420, or 421, or 422, or 423, or 424, or 425, or 426, or 427, or 428, or 429, or 430, or 431, or 432, or 433, or 434, or 435, or 436, or 437, or 438, or 439, or 440, or 441, or 442, or 443, or 444, or 445, or 446, or 447, or 448, or 449, or 450, or 451, or 452, or 453, or 454, or 455, or 456, or 457, or 458, or 459, or 460, or 461, or 462, or 463, or 464, or 465, or 466, or 467, or 468, or 469, or 470, or 471, or 472, or 473, or 474, or 475, or 476, or 477, or 478, or 479, or 480, or 481, or 482, or 483, or 484, or 485, or 486, or 487, or 488, or 489, or 490, or 491, or 492, or 493, or 494, or 495, or 496, or 497, or 498, or 499, or 500, or 501, or 502, or 503, or 504, or 505, or 506, or 507, or 508, or 509, or 510, or 511, or 512, or 513, or 514, or 515, or 516, or 517, or 518, or 519, or 520, or 521, or 522, or 523, or 524, or 525, or 526, or 527, or 528, or 529, or 530, or 531, or 532, or 533, or 534, or 535, or 536, or 537, or 538, or 539, or 540, or 541, or 542, or 543, or 544, or 545, or 546, or 547, or 548, or 549, or 550, or 551, or 552, or 553, or 554, or 555, or 556, or 557, or 558, or 559, or 560, or 561, or 562, or 563, or 564, or 565, or 566, or 567, or 568, or 569, or 570, or 571, or 572, or 573, or 574, or 575, or 576, or 577, or 578, or 579, or 580, or 581, or 582, or 583, or 584, or 585, or 586, or 587, or 588, or 589, or 590, or 591, or 592, or 593, or 594, or 595, or 596, or 597, or 598, or 599, or 600, or 601, or 602, or 603, or 604, or 605, or 606, or 607, or 608, or 609, or 610, or 611, or 612, or 613, or 614, or 615, or 616, or 617, or 618, or 619, or 620, or 621, or 622, or 623, or 624, or 625, or 626, or 627, or 628, or 629, or 630, or 631, or 632, or 633, or 634, or 635, or 636, or 637, or 638, or 639, or 640, or 641, or 642, or 643, or 644, or 645, or 646, or 647, or 648, or 649, or 650, or 651, or 652, or 653, or 654, or 655, or 656, or 657, or 658, or 659, or 660, or 661, or 662, or 663, or 664, or 665, or 666, or 667, or 668, or 669, or 670, or 671, or 672, or 673, or 674, or 675, or 676, or 677, or 678, or 679, or 680, or 681, or 682, or 683, or 684, or 685, or 686, or 687, or 688, or 689, or 690, or 691, or 692, or 693, or 694, or 695, or 696, or 697, or 698, or 699, or 700, or 701, or 702, or 703, or 704, or 705, or 706, or 707, or 708, or 709, or 710, or 711, or 712, or 713, or 714, or 715, or 716, or 717, or 718, or 719, or 720, or 721, or 722, or 723, or 724, or 725, or 726, or 727, or 728, or 729, or 730, or 731, or 732, or 733, or 734, or 735, or 736, or 737, or 738, or 739, or 740, or 741, or 742, or 743, or 744, or 745, or 746, or 747, or 748, or 749, or 750, or 751, or 752, or 753, or 754, or 755, or 756, or 757, or 758, or 759, or 760, or 761, or 762, or 763, or 764, or 765, or 766, or 767, or 768, or 769, or 770, or 771, or 772, or 773, or 774, or 775, or 776, or 777, or 778, or 779, or 780, or 781, or 782, or 783, or 784, or 785, or 786, or 787, or 788, or 789, or 790, or 791, or 792, or 793, or 794, or 795, or 796, or 797, or 798, or 799, or 800, or 801, or 802, or 803, or 804, or 805, or 806, or 807, or 808, or 809, or 810, or 811, or 812, or 813, or 814, or 815, or 816, or 817, or 818, or 819, or 820, or 821, or 822, or 823, or 824, or 825, or 826, or 827, or 828, or 829, or 830, or 831, or 832, or 833, or 834, or 835, or 836, or 837, or 838, or 839, or 840, or 841, or 842, or 843, or 844, or 845, or 846, or 847, or 848, or 849, or 850, or 851, or 852, or 853, or 854, or 855, or 856, or 857, or 858, or 859, or 860, or 861, or 862, or 863, or 864, or 865, or 866, or 867, or 868, or 869, or 870, or 871, or 872, or 873, or 874, or 875, or 876, or 877, or 878, or 879, or 880, or 881, or 882, or 883, or 884, or 885, or 886, or 887, or 888, or 889, or 890, or 891, or 892, or 893, or 894, or 895, or 896, or 897, or 898, or 899, or 900, or 901, or 902, or 903, or 904, or 905, or 906, or 907, or 908, or 909, or 910, or 911, or 912, or 913, or 914, or 915, or 916, or 917, or 918, or 919, or 920, or 921, or 922, or 923, or 924, or 925, or 926, or 927, or 928, or 929, or 930, or 931, or 932, or 933, or 934, or 935, or 936, or 937, or 938, or 939, or 940, or 941, or 942, or 943, or 944, or 945, or 946, or 947, or 948, or 949, or 950, or 951, or 952, or 953, or 954, or 955, or 956, or 957, or 958, or 959, or 960, or 961, or 962, or 963, or 964, or 965, or 966, or 967, or 968, or 969, or 970, or 971, or 972, or 973, or 974, or 975, or 976, or 977, or 978, or 979, or 980, or 981, or 982, or 983, or 984, or 985, or 986, or 987, or 988, or 989, or 990, or 991, or 992, or 993, or 994, or 995, or 996, or 997, or 998, or 999, or 1000, or 1001, or 1002, or 1003, or 1004, or 1005, or 1006, or 1007, or 1008, or 1009, or 1010, or 1011, or 1012, or 1013, or 1014, or 1015, or 1016, or 1017, or 1018, or 1019, or 1020, or 1021, or 1022, or 1023, or 1024, or 1025, or 1026, or 1027, or 1028, or 1029, or 1030, or 1031, or 1032, or

CURRENT GOSSIP.

A BALLAD OF BOUCETEE.
—Editorials from Paris—Continued.

There was a last of St. Louis.
There was also a last,
Who long has been two members of Society first-class.

And once this lad of St. Louis,
And once also this last,
Embraced upon an onward ship,
Over oceans wide to pass.

Also! the onward ship was wrecked
From haven many a mile,
And land and lass were cast ashore
Upon a desert Isle.

And on this island in the sea
None other did reside,
For years, and still had land and lass,
Who lived there till they died.

Through all these years they silent were—
To each other they refused speech,
For they had never, never been Never been introduced.

THE CAPTAIN'S STORY.
—Detroit Free Press.

"Well," said the captain, "I arrived at a lake cabin in one of the ferry-dock saloons yesterday; but it's not nothing to the summer of 1858. We had at least twenty degrees hotter than this night, and we're still here."

"Well, there are red toads, and I cross you have had them, too, and you have been compelled, as I have, to look so long intently at that knot-hole in the door. Gentlemen, come to the theatre, and hear us sing 'Love and Hates'."

"That was this Nicholas Longworth, who has been to see these few times?" asked the captain.

"Well, he was fair, but we didn't call it very hot till we got to the St. Clair River, and the mercury went up to 150 degrees when hanging against water-but. The boy used up his palmiste fan on one trip that year. On one of his trips down we were beaten by those gulls on Lake Huron. We got it there, and no mistake."

"Purty hot, eh?"

"Well, I'm old man, and I don't care to go swimming at this day, but I'll tell you a few facts. Every sail on that schooner cracked and shattered till they fell to pieces on deck and left the boat poor indeed; we had to make shift as best we could."

"That was just as it was in the morning, and with so we had to wet down decks to prevent them burning. The boy used up his compass, and it lay on the floor, and I consulted the sextant, and he lay on the floor, and all rolled into a chunk of glass and tin."

Then I began to realize how hot it was and I got frightened."

"What can you do?"

"Well, I'll much. We had begun to rig lines over the side, so that all could take to the water when the top-sail yard came down and killed the cook. The cook on the chain had melted right out. I knew it was a bad day, and then the weather has cooled off greatly since 1858."

"And about the cook?"

"Nothing. When we picked the body up, he had it overboard it had spread out in a mass about four feet square, and we had to use shovels before we got through. He was a good man, and I always thought him a man, and he never betrayed me in the heat or scoop-hoovering his remains over the rail. All he did was to rig our lines and get overboard."

"Oh, it was much cooler!"

"Aha! young man, how little you reporters know of the great lake spread out before your gaze on the map! Cooler! Why, the minute we struck the water began squirming like a fish, and the next moment it was all over. I would have cooked an egg in four minutes. I was blistered from head to heel in no time. Some day I will take of my coat and vest and show you my back."

"I am sure you'll be a shoo-fly kite!" he went on, laughing.

"I guess so."

"No kite, no life," he said, as he stepped back.

"Well, I'll buy a kite," she replied, filling the spoon up.

"And a velocipede?"

"I'll think of it."

"Here—I will, or I'll send father to and I'll buy you a goat!"

"And I'll buy you a pony?"

"Oh! I couldn't afford that."

"Yes, yes, I'll swallow that stuff. Now be a good boy and come to the station for me!"

"I must have been terrible. How did you come to be so bad?"

"Well, while I was squirming in the water a small boat struck the schooner and down she went. It was all over in a minute, and air and water were hotter than ever. I struck out for the shore, and swam 100 yards, and knew that it was sink or swim, but in half an hour I was safe."

"Picked up?"

"No," replied the Captain, "he scratched his leg, I struck an iceberg and climbed up into a cave near the top! I tell you it was a grateful change to me, and that's one reason why I've got a hunk of meat and a lemon without feelings now."

"And you're both—with a very little gin in mine, if you please."

THE BERNARDIN FEVER.
—Bogoté Express.

"Hello, Sara!" replied the Duke of Edinburgh to Mrs. Bernhardin, in the free and easy manner for which he is so distinguished; "what have you done with the belonging to the first half of your name?"

"Sare," replied the actress, a shade of ambivalence crossing her classic countenance, "I have dropped her. I observe, sare, sat your coons trying their best need of hem. Zee scroopy of deat least let her varie remited in zy country. I green house over to you."

"Oh, very well," said the Duke, blushing with surprise; "but you needn't make such a dented face about it. I don't care much about it, anything."

THE PRINCE OF WALES.
—London Standard.

"Hello, Sara!" replied the Duke of Edinburgh to Mrs. Bernhardin, in the free and easy manner for which he is so distinguished; "what have you done with the belonging to the first half of your name?"

"Sare," replied the actress, a shade of ambivalence crossing her classic countenance, "I have dropped her. I observe, sare, sat your coons trying their best need of hem. Zee scroopy of deat least let her varie remited in zy country. I green house over to you."

"Oh, very well," said the Duke, blushing with surprise; "but you needn't make such a dented face about it. I don't care much about it, anything."

PHILOSOPHERS AT A PICNIC.
—London Standard.

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

"Xenophon," said his master one day when he had dismissed the academy and taken the students out to a picnic, "Xenophon, I do not like to see the young men of Athens so much given to hugging the maidens of Greece on these occasions. Their actions are dangerous to public liberty and free institutions, and they are a check upon the free expression of popular sentiment."

"And why is it?" asked the future man of the Anabasis.

"Because," replied Socrates, "it's muslim they press."

